Today's Challenge:
How do parliaments modernize their systems to utilize today's newer technologies to help citizens access free & timely legislative & legal information?

---

Online means more than just the electronic representation of the paper document.

Public institutions need to deliver machine-readable, digital formats.

World e-Parliament Report 2018

The key trends identified in the report:

- Digital technologies are now firmly embedded with clearly identified governance and technology practices in most parliaments.
- The use of instant messaging has increased significantly.
- Digital broadcasting and video streaming have overtaken traditional broadcasting.
- Barriers to greater use of ICT include training and skill deficits for staff and members.
- Knowledge of how parliaments work is seen as the biggest barrier to greater citizen engagement.
- Over a third of the parliaments now collaborate directly with PMOs.

How a Bill becomes the Law

The Legislative Process is complicated and rarely predictable.

---

The shortest success path for a bill to become law is twenty decision points

---

The Solution: Structured Documents

Formats: XML, JSON, HTML

Documents are not databases

Database

- Predictable
- Relational (often)
- Homogeneous
- Scoped
- System provides meaning

Documents

- Structured and un-structured
- Related (often) but not relational
- Heterogeneous
- Variable scope
- Intrinsic meaning

Documents

- Documents have three characteristics:
  - Presentation: how it looks
  - Structure: how is it organized
  - Semantics: what does it mean

XML is a markup language that defines a set of rules for encoding documents in a format that is both human-readable and machine-readable.

COMPARATIVE PRINT

In compliance with clause 12(a) of rule XXI of the Rules of the House of Representatives, this document was generated to show how legislative text that may be considered by the House proposes to change existing law. It does not represent an official expression by the House and it should not be relied on in lieu of the legislative proposal to understand the proposed change(s).

Omitted text is enclosed in black brackets, new matter is proposed in italics, and existing law in which no change is proposed is shown in roman. Typesetting and stylistic characteristics, particularly in the headings and indentations, may not conform to how the proposed text, if adopted, would be executed in current law. This comparative print may not illustrate changes to tables or contents if the legislative text is proposing such a change(s).
